The Third Level

Part II

Fan Sequel by Manas Chaurasia

So, it's true, Sam is really there, Galesburg, Illinois, 1894.Most probably he accidently found the way to the third level while try to prove me that I am hallucinating. He then came back, plan to settle there, exchange 800 bucks and luckily found the way back again…!

Since the time I came to know about the third level, I have read much about time travel, which mostly goes over from my head, and also some "what if" on going into past which mainly focus on how to survive and became rich using modern knowledge.

There are 2 most important thing to survive there, first, money without obviously know one could survive and the second is, outfit, as I don't want to look like alien in that time and the best way to get it, is to buy a single setfrom a thrift or a vintage storeand the rest items form the old time as they are available at the cost of pennies. I visited 3 coin stores, one near my house and two near my office in order to exchange $2500 with a premium of $400 and now I have $2100 which seems enough 2 generations at that time. Louisa get the clothes and now we are ready for the main challenge, to find the corridor that leads to the third level….!, It's been a month since I found the letter ofSam and we are searching the gate almost every single day but there is something that we're missing.

Ah! Very easy, we don’t have to take much trouble, we just have to try harder and we will find it, may be in a month or years.She yells at me, you moron, first you exchanged $2500 with a premium of $400, make me visit another city for perfect clothes and now you are saying just try hard and you’ll get it in an year. I didn’t say anything, just go to my stamp collection to find the letter and give it to Louisa, she opens it, she found a map of Grand Central station with a corridor marked with tunnel to 1894 and a letter with my signature, she got totally confused. I explained to her, it is very simple, we just have to find the station once, no matter how long it took and then we can write the letter to my grandad revealing the location of tunnel which he keep in his collection and we, in the time now, can use that letter to revel the exact location of that tunnel.

Now everything is going in the way it should be, we pack the luggage and head toward the central station and this time we got it the tunnel very easily, thanks to my sharp clever brain, after walking a long we finally reach 1894. Louisa is surprised to see where she was and also apologise to me as she saw that what I am saying about the third level at Central Station was right. We stayed there for few minutes as Louisa want to see the old subway and things that she has never seen in the modern world. Oh! Wait I realized something, the small pouch with $800 that I have tied on the luggage was gone, somebody stolen it and now we are left with only 1300 bucks. When I told Louisa she was shocked. $1300 was still enough for 2 of us for decade if spent wisely but we can take any risk at that time, I can’t even FIR on police station as they suspect me first that how I got 800 bucks and tied it carelessly on the luggage.

I bought 2 tickets and we reach Galesburg Illinois and it was more beautiful than I expected, we reached Grandpa's house and I saw a man with big moustache and muscular body watering the plants, the face doesn't look very similar to his old age but I know he was grandad in his prime and I really don't want to meet him and start a time paradox. So, we leave the place soon.

Before stepping into the train I bought a lottery ticket which is going to win $50 in the next lottery and I have so many more lucky numbers for the next few years.

We head towards the place where Sam is invited for the lemonade and also talk to some people there and something was strange, there's nobody who knows a guy named Sam!

If you like this, you can buy the III part which is going to release soon on https://coder-saiyan.github.io/The_Time_Tunnel/

only for $5